

Koha Aroha

July 8 to 11, 2011

The gift of Love

Shamanic teachings, wisdom and sharing with

TeWaimatao (Wai) Turoa Morgan,

Dave Hegglun,

Ayako Goh and friends.

Koha Aroha is Maori and means: To give with Love. This is what this workshop is about. All teachings, wisdom and knowledge which you will receive at this workshop will be given as a donation – a Koha – from the heart. The wisdom teachers won't get any money for it. In return, the money you give for that workshop is a Koha which goes into a fundraising account. It is to keep this treasure of ancient wisdom alive and to support whoever needs support to continue sharing and teaching this special gifts of wisdom, love and healing.

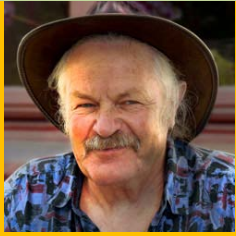

The gifts of Love which will be offered to you in this workshop will be handed over in different ways depending on the wisdom teachers and the energies of all who will come together for these special 4 days. You might experience sacred rituals, contact with nature beings, inner journeys , being a channel through art, facing your own souls wisdom, enjoying community and sharing and being part of everything .

Wai Turoa Morgen is Maori from New Zealand. She was born a matakite child, with the hood completely wrapped in a fine membrane. This type of birth is generally known by indigenous and native people as being born with a special gift.

Wai knew she was different from others, through what she termed her 'knowing'. Before she actually realized, she could see or read thoughts or intentions of others already as a child. Today Wai is known as a world leader in the teachings of shamanism and she is sharing her wisdom throughout the world.

While working Wai is directly connected with the ancestors and the universe from where she receives messages and leading. This way healing and knowledge both for the individual as well as for the whole group can come in. Wai has a very empathetic and soft way to work with people .

Dave Hegglyn is a famous carver and a healer from New Zealand. He has a deep connection to the nature and is receiving wisdom directly from the nature beings in different ways. No wonder that he has a huge knowledge about healing herbs and plants as he is communicating with the little people, the rivers, the trees and stones. Being able to communicate with a stone Dave is creating beautiful art with his carvings. Dave is sharing his wisdom and knowledge in a lovely and natural way.

Ayako Goh is from Singapore and a young artist who is working with nature spirits a lot. She is talking to trees and stones and crystals especially. She is doing healing art and personal intuitive drawings for people. All of her artworks are drawn or painted intuitively whereby she is just like a vessel for the persons she is painting to pour down their colors, shapes, feelings, thoughts into the blank canvas and she won't know what she is painting or drawing till the brush on her hands stop. She wants her artworks to heal people on a soul level... To provide release or healings thru seeing her artwork as she believe that each one of them is filled with live force and its own energies.

Friends might offer their Koha by sharing their wisdom knowledge with us during the workshop or by offering treatment. So there won't be a fixed program as they might join us offering their gifts on a short term. But be sure receiving all these different gifts will be an unforgettable experience.
